THE PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Philosophy, if rightly defined, is nothing but the love of wisdom

Dear Friends!

We have moved a very long way from a simpler, more literal meaning of 'literacy', as the skill to read and write, to a wider and deeper inclusion of both cognitive and non-cognitive skills and their applications. Educators in the 21st century are charged with educating students to be successful in a very complex and inter-connected world. To enable the newer generation to 'learn for life', school years are vital to exploring and learning skill-sets required towards their personal, social and economic well-being in a complex information society. Education does not really end in only getting good grades. It actually culminates in the overall growth of the child to gift her/him the outside world for a better living. For that, teachers will have to imbibe in their students, value for hard-work, sensitivity about the environment and a genuine feeling of pride in one's honest dealings.

The values we impart to our children today, consciously and unconsciously will have a major impact on our society tomorrow. Teachers are not just knowledge disseminators; they play a major role in transforming the lives of their students. Parents too, have got equal or even more responsibility to be a role model for their children. Although, there are many things we cannot take responsibility for in this world, but the one thing we can be responsible for, is the quality of our presence for our children. If you are able to talk and listen to your child, your relationship can grow into that of mutual understanding, respect and consideration. Good communication with parents helps children to avoid lot of problems.

As such, dear all! I would love to insist upon the often neglected fact that the world is in dire need of empathetic listeners; of words and of feelings, emotions and situations. And in this connection, would further like to suggest that, we should refrain from the insensible overuse of technology. Of course, it may be a good servant but in no way, a good master. Life is full of priceless opportunities and there is a great need to further grow up in quality. Time goes at its own pace with everybody having 24 hours, nothing less, nothing more. As such, we need to organize our haphazard lifestyle and creatively plan our time. We need to come out of our fantasies and be with real people and in real learning situations. If we can do this much, success will definitely greet us with open arms. Above all, real happiness and contentment will shimmer in our eyes.

May God Bless You!

Sr. Josy Thomas

VICE PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

To cultivate kindness is a valuable part of the business of life.

Mercy is a key word that indicates God's action towards us. He doesn't limit Himself in merely extending His love but, makes it visible and tangible. Love, after all, cannot be just an abstraction. By its very nature, it indicates something concrete: Intentions, attitudes and behavior that are shown in daily living. The mercy of God is His loving concern for each one of us. He desires our well being and wants us to be happy, full of joy and peaceful. But how will it happen? Well, Dear students! We just need to be sensitive and merciful to others and rest everything will fall in right place.

It is good to ask ourselves what we need to let go off so that this irresponsible force of love and compassion can soften our hearts. Are we up for the challenges to face in this coming jubilee year of Mercy? Do we experience God's Mercy and learn to be merciful to His children in our daily living? We must keep introspecting.

Finally, I would love to say; dear students! With the Jubilee Year at our threshold, comes yet another opportunity to start afresh in our relationship with the Almighty God and with others. Let us learn that mercy cannot be quantified or limited as God inspires us to expand our horizons of mercy.

We expect you to not only grow up beautifully in your academics, sports and other career oriented studies, but also that you justify your human worth by being empathetic and merciful further growing up to become truly responsible citizens of the country and the world at large.

The world waits for you. So, work hard and also cooperate in good, foresighted initiatives of others. God Bless You!

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Quality is never an accident. It is always the result of intelligent effort

As promised, 'Symphony' is back to serve you with a glint of its most gripping year-round activities of the session 2016-17, lovingly treasured in and waiting to be shared well in time with its readers. I must give my word that we have been very honest in trying to do justice to all expectations. All thanks to the Principal, Rev. Sister Josy Thomas, for believing in us and for being a perennial source of joyful learning opportunities. I further extend my sincere gratitude to my dexterous editorial board, erudite workmates, ardent students, the e-care panel and all others who turned into indispensable resources whenever I was in want of information or ease.

Constraint of space limits us to few choices, so I would request my young writers to keep alive the creative genius in them even if they do not come in print this time. At the same time, I would like to highlight the efforts of our students and teachers of Class-V who have contributed in the most praiseworthy manner this year. In general, I would like to appreciate all good initiatives. Keep it up!

Dear valued ones! Our this year's cover page seeks your special attention, for it has something to say to us, an appeal so universal; that we should be kind, considerate and compassionate towards the elderly, the ones who once shouldered all our responsibilities and are going through the most difficult part of their life's journey and as such, need our caring company. Let us take a break from our life's rush and sit by their side to help them smile again. Let us prove through our caring presence that we still love them. Won't we?

I take your leave now, seeking forgiveness for inadvertent errors and omissions, if any; and reminding it to myself, my young readers and to others that there is a great philosophy behind keeping dreams big but, equal need is to pay due attention to small decisions too; you never know how huge their impact may be on your life. The very secret of success lies in putting all heart, mind and soul into even the smallest acts.

Happy Symphonizing, while I enthusiastically wait for your constructive comments.

With warm regards!

Mukesh Tewari (PGT English)

Annual Sports 2016

"I declare the Athletic-Meet open..." This was our Principal Rev. Sister Josy Thomas who, after unfurling the flag and receiving the Guard of Honor, declared the 31st Annual Athletic Meet open, a two-day mega show on 19th and 20th Dec, covering various sports events.

Athletics is always a welcome-fever at Nirmala Convent, for it gives a wonderful platform to our young masters of motor-skills, giving necessary boost of spirits to other sports lovers as well. What a delight to see our children packed with amazing strengths in terms of stamina, speed, endurance, confidence and team work!

All hearts got filled with divine emotions while joining the school band in singing the school song at the ceremonial close of this Athletics Meet 2016-17. Once again, sports had successfully taught us that victory lies not in actually winning but fighting well.

The Principal congratulated the winners, never forgetting to praise and bless the efforts of all the participants and their mentors.

Caring and Sharing with love

True wealth and happiness are not measured by material things. Love, compassion, friendship, freedom and smiles are far more valuable. An authentic and genuine life grows like a sturdy tree. And like a tree, it grows slowly. Every time you make a different and better decision, it grows a little. Every time you choose to do the right thing, even when nobody would find out otherwise, it grows a little. Every time you act with compassion, relinquish your right to strike back, take a courageous stand, admit fault or above all realize and willingly accept responsibility, it grows a little. We too are growing in the same beautiful manner at Nirmala Convent as we live to the fullest, the very spirit of our school, 'For God and for our Country'. We are happy that our students are taking initiatives to bring smiles on others' faces in whatever way they can. God shows us the way and it lovingly works for us.

Let him who would enjoy a good future waste none of his present.

Kudos

Birth of a Butterfly

A mamma butterfly lays all her eggs,
Out pops a caterpillar, crawling on its legs.
The caterpillar, first, is rather thin,
But then, it eats till it bursts through its skin.
After growing nice and big,
The caterpillar climbs on a leaf or twig.
It makes a shell where it hangs inside.
Then the shell cracks and the parts divide.
Inside the shell, a change was going on,
The form of the caterpillar now is gone.
When the shell opens, what comes out?
A beautiful butterfly fluttering, no doubt!

This Isn't Fair

Through the house, what busy joy!
Just because the infant boy,
Has a tiny tooth to show;
See! I've got a nice 'double row'.
All are white and beautifully small,
Yet, no one cares for mine at all;
He can say but half-a-word,
Yet that single word's preferred;
To all the words that I can say,
In the longest summer day.
Cannot walk properly, yet, if he'll put,
With mimic motion, out his foot;
Thinking, as if, he were advancing,
It's prized more than even my best dancing.

Oh! Beautiful Nature

Oh Nature, dear nature!
You're so beautiful, you're so pretty
You give us the rainbow
The flowers and the birds
And the air, so fresh, which we all share
While playing so blissfully, under your care.

But, what an evil monster we now see around
A world full of smoke and fear abound
From cars and factories it rises too high
Chokes our lungs and makes flowers die.

Let us form a little army and fight pollution
And ask our elders to check vehicle emission
Plant more saplings that care and nurse
Produce oxygen and eradicate the curse.

Happy Bird

I saw a little bird,
Sitting on a tree;
Singing a sweet note with joy,
And feeling all free.
Higher and higher,
She flew up in the sky;
And seeing me, said smiling,
Bye! Nandini Bye!

The Land Of My Dreams

While settling down to write,
In praise of thee, O my India!
I searched and thought and scratched my head,
But, couldn't get the desired idea.
Then, to tell you the truth,
I fell asleep while thinking for sure;
And soon, dreamt of this Land of Sages,
My Motherland, I love and adore.
I dreamt of the world,
Where rich helped the poor everyday;
Where humanity was worshipped by all,
None lay hungry or naked on the way.
It was a world,
Where communal differences didn't exist;
Pluralism practiced by all,
Where, no one was a racist.
May all be treated good and equal,
May illiteracy and unawareness abate;
May dexterity help us beyond measure,
May love replace all hearts' hate.

Dear Dad

Dad, it is not easy to find the words to say,
How much you mean to me each and every day.
I know, you sometimes, get discouraged,
Me, being naughty and reluctant to learn;
Still, to help me stay focused on life's track,
Lovingly guide me round each turn.
And though, I sometimes must stumble,
Even in the utmost care;
I may not give ears to your call but,
It helps to know you're always there.
Never looking for praises,
And are never to boast;
You just go on working quietly,
For the ones you love the most.

Just Children

A daughter is a daughter,
Son, a son;
Why compare them?
When both can shine up like the Sun!
Like boys, the girls too,
Fly an airplane, parade in soldier's shoes;
Are educated, free and strong,
Box in the ring, and sail with crews!
Let them have opportunities equal,
Let them do the best they can;
Let each be a good person,
Be it a woman or a man!

The Unsatisfied 'I' ...a satire on self

I am all unsatisfied
As an Indian citizen,
And wish! My government
Takes good decision.
Elections are coming
I won't vote,
But, I want a government
That gives me full support.
I'll cut the trees, planting none
Will throw garbage in the clean,
Then, I'll blame the government
Oh! My surroundings are not green.
I'll waste a lot of water
Never checking the taps to close,
But, will cry out loud
As the water flow slows.
Why should I manage?
I won't carpool!
But will not bear it
If would rise, the price of fuel.
I'm greedy
So won't pay any tax,
But will surely expect
My government to, just let me relax.

My Inspiration

Inspiration, to me, is a feeling of enthusiasm that I gain from someone or something and which gives me new and creative ideas and a motive of living. I derive my inspiration from my dreams which are like huge trees beautifully adorned with sweet fruits of success. They give me consideration for a better future. I realize well how important my dreams are to me.

A person may get entangled with problems while pursuing his or her career. So, it is essential for one to have some driving force that would help one keep moving. Very much like my worthy teachers, my dreams too guide me. They are my very own mentors. As such, they mean a lot to me. I firmly believe that only with the power of my dreams, I will be able to achieve even the otherwise unachievable.

Fluttering Thoughts

I wish that I could wrap my words
Around each fleeting thought
That flits and flutters through my mind,
A moth that won't be caught.

If only, it would, light awhile
And rest its restless wings,
I'd arrest the words, to weave cocoons
To hold such lovely things.
As poetry and lyrics
To the tunes that float through time
And touch the hearts of all
Who were with magic in their rhyme.

Festivals in India

Cultures, regions or bright seasons,
Festivals exist for all beautiful reasons.
Eid-Diwali-Christmas-Guruparab,
Cultural festivals are God's language of Love.
Holi-Baisakhi or the Onam-Pongal Sun,
Festival of Harvest is farmer's ultimate fun.
National festivals being our supreme pride,
We enthusiastically celebrate them countrywide.
Gifts and greetings, sweets and fair,
Festivals teach us Universal Brotherhood,
And give us opportunities to care and share.

Life

We are the sum total of all the experiences that we encounter while advancing through the lane of life. The day-to-day struggles and triumphs that are experienced by all the world's creatures are actually learning opportunities in disguise. As human beings, whenever we encounter a challenge, we have freedom to choose how to react. So, there is a great need to be in all sensibility and godly goodness while reacting to whatever life has put us in.

हम सब भारतवासी

चमन में गंगा–जमुनी सी, फिजां का बोलबाला है,

यहूदी, बौद्ध, पारसी, जैन, चमन ये खूब आला है,
यहीं के हम सभी वासी, वतन अपना निराला है।।

क्रिसमस, ईद, बैसाखी, ये फागुन की उमंगो का,

ये मुस्लिम की वो बेटी है, जिसे हिन्दू ने पाला है,
वतन अपना निराला है, वतन अपना निराला है।।

अगर है जान हिन्दू की, ये तन मन है मुसलमाँ भी,
यूँ रहते एक हम सारे, बदन इक और इक जाँ है।
अगर हिन्दी की रोटी है, तो उर्दू का निवाला है,

यहीं टेगोर, टेरेसा, पटेल, आजाद औ मौलाना,
अमर हैं बोस और गाँधी, भगत अशफ़ाकउल्ला खाँ।
यहाँ देखे हैं सत्यार्थी, कि हर नारी मलाला है,
वतन अपना निराला है, वतन अपना निराला है।।

निखारें रूप आओ आज, मिलकर अपने गुलशन का,
बनें सब नेक रह कर एक, तारें कर्ज तन–मन का।

HE, who keeps the cosmos in place,
And gives the submissive, soothing solace;
HE, who rules from the quakes to the quack of a Duck,
Providing in time perfect, all share of one's luck;
Had sent you, to spread HIS message of love divine,
Thus showing through thee, His presence benign;
When the mission assigned got duly fulfilled,
You should come HOME! HE further willed;
Your memory now, is our keepsake never to part,
God has you in his keeping, we have you in our heart...

Transforming Life

There is nothing wrong in anyone accumulating wealth and material comforts but one shouldn't misuse them to impress others with one's riches, pomp and superiority or to show that other people are not as good. One should acknowledge the fact that wealth and comforts are meant for sustenance of life rather than the other way round. The real worth of life lies in accomplishing our inner, intellectual and spiritual development. No other goal could ever make life as much worthwhile. Therefore, one must give utmost priority to ideals and morals and should abide by them whilst embarking on or progressing in any field of the world.

Mind is like the roots of a tree

This year, I wish to share with you all, one of the transcendental teachings of the great guru Pt. Shriram Sharma Acharya ji. He said, "The Gita compares man with a fig tree having its branches and leaves above the ground and therefore clearly visible while the roots-being hidden underground stay invisible. Nonetheless, the visible part of the tree reflects what those seemingly invisible roots crucially do for the rest of the tree. When the roots of the tree don't get water, the branches and leaves start to wilt and wither away. On the other hand, when the tree has its roots deeply burrowed into the ground enabling them to get plentiful of water and nutrients the tree grows quite well. Man is also in a similar situation. Thinking happens to be his roots. The quality of thinking, core beliefs and aspirations of an individual create corresponding outer situations for him. For example, the inner deprivation of an individual becomes manifested as insufficiency or emptiness in his outer life. The lack of knowledge and wisdom only reflects the lack of curiosity. Whoever trains his/her mind to be content with and wisely utilizes whatever he/she has is destined to enjoy happiness and contentment in his/her life."

We, the teachers of Nirmala Convent, take pride in following the great legacy of the Ursuline Sisters and see to it that our teachings carry the requisite moral character in order that our students not only grow up in academic excellence but also that they are rooted well in divine values and spiritual enlightenment to be nourished forever.
